“It’s better than DramaAlert!” 8thLR Community Launches its own Newspaper!

In this troubling time, it is difficult to discern information from what is true and what is not. Rumors spread like wildfire, but what we can depend on are independent newspapers. This is true for our Holdfast community as well!

Oberst Muszy has pushed for a new media source to be added to the Holdfast community, and to be seen as a new pillar for the 8thLR community. “I think it’s a great opportunity,” he says, excitedly while he plays Valorant during our interview. “This is a new way for people in the 8th to be involved, and it provides a place for our voices to be heard by the whole community.”

Reforms to accompany this announcements are as follows, two new public chats for the 8th to use: #newspaper-archives, where all of our issues will be stored for 8thLR scholars. Along with the public #news-suggestions where 8thLR members may submit ideas for the paper. Then there will be the private chat, #thenewsroom. Only accessible to those granted the News Editor and News Staff roles.

“It’s better than DramaAlert or-” he gags, “TRRB news or even the 26th paper that only announces their competitive wins. This paper will be a place where we can feature the awesome work and stories of people in our community.”

With the launch of the newspaper, we call for all those who are interested in being Editors (formatters and general moderators) Photographers (those interested in finding photos or taking screenshots) Writers (who can write our 300 word stories) and Artists (who wish to feature their artwork in the paper.) If you wish to take part, apply with the pinned application in the new #news-suggestions chat.

Those who don’t make it onto the staff can also take part, by sending in ideas for stories to #suggestions as well as requesting announcements or ads to be placed in our ad section below.

“I’m really trying to bring new ideas and opportunities into the culture of the 8thLR.” Muszy concludes. “We can always do well in linebattles or competitions, but what I think is best is to try and make the 8th more of a family, more of a home, more of a community.”
